The Letter

An outdoor installation, on the Post Office Building is the simple story of a letter written, sent and received in three panels. This work, proposed and executed by local artist Marilyn Koop, was commissioned by the Post Office in the late 1990's. Restored in 2013 by the Elora Arts Council as a memorial to Marilyn.

A.J Casson

The sculpture inside the tourism office was created by local artist Beverley Cairns. One of the Group of Seven, A.J. Casson, spent time in Elora from 1929 to 1931 creating a series known as the "Elora Portfolio" (the sculptures title). Casson called Elora "Ontario's Most beautiful Village".

The Tall Man

This finger pointer created by Scott McNichol actually titled "Who's In Charge" moved into the Elora Greenspace in 2012 to become one of the most photographed art features of Elora.
